

Bell Ring

PESR100

Every child knows from kindergarten that the Bell Ring is a popular shaking instrument. At school, too, it is used very often. Mostly the Bell Ring serves to give the beat; one strikes it against the palm or the leg. The frame is usually made from wood or plastic, sometimes even from metal. The quality of the metal bells corresponds to the quality of the sound. When one adds a skin to the frame the Bell Ring turns into the famous Tambourine.
