Kids' Drum, coloured

Kids like colours: that is what the creators of Remo Drums thought. They should be solid and long lasting, too. So this series of drums made from coloured plastic was born. There is something for everybody: a pair of bongos or a single piece, long or small. The timbre is rather high but they sound good. The drums can be played with the hand or with sticks, and some have a strap. Kids can have a good romp and the ears of the adults are not overstrained too much.
