

Tamburine

TMTA100
small

TMTA120
small

TMTA130
tunable

TMTA200
small w/ bells

TMTA208
8S, D25cm

PETA216
16S, D26cm

The Tambourine or Bell Drum is a percussion instrument. It consists of a one-sided covered frame made from metal, plastic or wood, with vaulted bells, mostly in pairs. The Tambourine was already known in Ireland and Egypt a very long time ago and was commonly used for dancing. Today this manifold instrument is used in almost all music styles and pedagogy. The drum can be played with the fingers, the palm, the fist, or a striker.