

Xaphoon

BLXA001 Bamboo
BLXA002 Plastic

Heard of it? A Sax made of bamboo!

And it's not much bigger than a Recorder. At least it has the same tuning—C major. But the playing is more demanding: the mouthpiece is similar to that of a Clarinet. The reed must be pressed tightly with lips and teeth and then you have to blow powerfully. Strengthens breathing and abdominal muscles! The plastic model is cheap, split-resistant and easy to clean. The sound is stronger and more sonorous than with the bamboo Xaphoon. It sounds more like the original Saxophone.

About 35 centimetres long, playing chart included.