Indeed they boom, these Boomwhackers from the U.S.! They are precisely tuned tubes made from almost indestructible plastic. They are perfect for kids and adults alike, to discover the world of sound and rhythm without much financial or technical effort.

A set of Boomwhackers consists of different tuned coloured plastic tubes. You can either strike them against the leg or the palm or any other solid objects around you. The volume varies according to the surface, but the tuning is always the same.

Each player can hold one or two tubes; it's just a matter of paying attention to coming in on time. You can play simple melodies as well, even chords. You can change the tuning of a tube by putting a plastic cap on top.

There are sets in pentatonic, diatonic and chromatic tuning over two octaves. Each tone corresponds to a colour (for example C = red). Ideal for musical pre-school training, kindergartens, schools, musical therapy, group games... you may even inspire inveterate non-musicians!
