

Ruttli Shaker

The variety of rattle and shake instruments nowadays is huge. The imagination of instrument makers seems to be flowing freely—they create ever-new forms from ever-new materials, and thus ever-new sounds.

The Ruttli-Shaker has a simple cylindrical shape; its speciality is found in the size, the weight and the filling.

There are three models with three different sound qualities. The little shaker has a coarse filling which makes a deep timbre. The medium shaker with a brass ring produces a high metallic timbre. The third and biggest one has a strong sound. All three types have three different grades: light, medium and deep. All shakers are very handy and fit in any pocket.
